Foreword

It is not new for SRS to publish this report, as it has been publishing this sort of report from 2009, but the new circumstances has arisen in 2020 when the COVID 19 attacked the country in March . Almost all the workplaces were shut about for 66 days from 26 March 2020. As a result, the number of workplace deaths is little bit low than previous year 2019, but not that much low as it is supposed to be. Every year Safety and Rights Society (SRS) is monitoring newspaper for collecting and preserving information on workplace accidents and the number of victims of those accidents and publish a report after conducting the yearly survey – this year report is the tenth in the series.

SRS depends not only the newspapers as the source for information but it also accumulated some information from online media and through personal contact with workers representative organizations. This year 26 newspapers (15 national and 11 regional) were monitored and the present report includes information on workplace deaths (as well as injuries that took place in the same incident that resulted in the deaths) throughout 2020.

As part of SRS works, it carries out a considerable number of details information collections on workplace accidents that results death or serious injuries on assisting families and injured workers in obtaining compensation.

We realize that many workers die from other means - on the way to seeking work, in political protests or in house fires, electrocution, explosion etc – but these are not related to their work and so are not included in this report. This report also does not include Bangladeshi workers who die outside the country.

Our sincere appreciation and gratitude to Diakonia - a development partner of SRS - which has been supporting and guiding SRS since 2012 in carrying out its work on workplace health and safety in Bangladesh including this publication.

We hope regulatory authorities and agencies which enforce the Bangladesh Labour Act 2006, the media and other organisations who are working to improve workplace health and safety conditions in Bangladesh will find this report useful.

We have a plan to extend our online monitoring system so that we can cover more. As always, any comments or suggestions for further improvement of this report would be highly appreciated and acknowledged with gratitude.

About Safety and Rights Society

Safety and Rights Society (SRS) is a national NGO concerned with improving workplace and work-related safety in Bangladesh and assisting those injured or at risk of injury, to enforce their rights under the law.

Though SRS has a particular focus on labour rights, it is also concerned with wider public safety issues involving transport, drugs, food and other consumer products as well as other wider human rights issues.

Workplace Safety, Compensation and Accountability

The wider perspective of SRS is to promote labour rights in Bangladesh where Workplace Safety Compensation and Accountability (WSCA) is one of the main programmatic areas. From 2012, this programme has been supported by Diakonia, the development partner of SRS.

WSCA aims to improve the health and safety conditions faced by workers in Bangladesh and to ensure that, following a workplace death and injury, dependent families and injured workers receive appropriate compensation according to the law. Its focus is particularly on those in the country's 'industrial' and 'service' sectors.

It works to improve conditions by:

- undertaking research to obtain a better understanding of the occupational health and safety situation in Bangladesh, including the numbers and circumstances of deaths and injuries and the necessary changes in workplace practices;
- promoting the reform of health and safety legislation in Bangladesh so that it offers appropriate protection to workers;
- providing training on workplace health and safety and other labour rights issues to the construction, garment and tannery workers and mid-level management;
- assessing the activities of the Department of Inspection for Factories and Establishments and other regulatory bodies with the aim of seeking improvements in how they seek compliance with, and enforcement of the law;
- providing information and guidance to employers so that they understand their health and safety obligations and the steps they need to take to fulfill them;
- offering health and safety management training to employers;
- assisting trade unions in raising health and safety concerns with employers and enforcement bodies;

- filing strategic public interest litigation in the High Court of Bangladesh with the aim of ensuring that state bodies comply with their constitutional and legal requirements to provide workers with safe and healthy conditions at work;
- working to ensure the effectiveness of National Industrial Health and Safety Council and the implementation of National Occupational Health and Safety Policy;
- working to ensure gender equality and to reduce violence and harassment in the world of work;
- working to ensure the effectiveness of labour welfare fund.

It assists dependent families and injured workers gain compensation by

- monitoring national and regional newspapers for reports of workplace deaths;
- investigating the circumstances of workplace deaths & injuries and contacting dependents & injured workers to determine whether they need assistance for realising compensation;
- obtaining information about workplace injuries through research at hospitals;
- informing employers of their obligation to pay compensation in relation to specific deaths and injuries and filing cases in the Labour Court where necessary (together with BLAST)

Workplace Death Analysis of 2020

1. Background

Year 2020 was completely different from any previous year. People of every orbit have experienced a new life that they never dreamt of as the COVID-19 pandemic destroyed everything including normal movement, life was stuck. The impact was exacerbated when the daily wage earners could not earn their livelihood. Government packages for relief, recovery and reformation failed to reach the marginalized people who were supposed to be the main recipients.

Keeping a record of workplace accidents that result in death and injury and publishing the report is one of the regular activities that SRS is doing very sincerely since its inception. One of the objectives of this survey is to accumulate the data in one place and share it to the public so that they can realize the practical conditions at the workplaces and raise their voice for a safe and decent workplace. In the last ten years, on an average 550 workers died. This year, all the factories and establishments were shut for more than two months but the death toll was not that low, it was 433. Though there were no big incidents like Tazreen, Rana Plaza or Tampaco.

As like previous years, a large number of workers died from road accidents (177). Other main causes of workplace deaths include electrocution, fall from a height, crushed or hit by objects, fire, earth collapse and building/roof/wall collapse, explosion, etc. Most of the national and international OSH (occupational safety and health) professionals believe that about ninety percent of workplace accidents could be avoided if the stakeholders become aware and take necessary precautions.

2. Methodology

This report provides details of workplace deaths that took place in Bangladesh in 2020 in the manufacturing, construction, service, agricultural and transport sectors and analyses the incidents by sector, cause, age and gender of the deceased, and location of the incident.

Information about the deaths was obtained by monitoring 15 national¹ newspapers and 11 regional² papers of Barisal, Chittagong, Khulna, Rajshahi and Sylhet.

¹ National: The daily Star, The Independent, New Age, The Daily Sun, Ittefaq, ProthomAlo, KalerKantha, Samokal, Sangbad, Janakantha, Jugantor, Nayadiganta, Inquilab, Jai Jai Din, BanikBarta

2.1 Kinds of deaths monitored

This report focuses on the deaths of workers at the workplace, arising out of issues relating to occupational safety and health and concerned with the management of the work, including details of transport workers (drivers or conductors and helpers working in vehicles) who have died in the course of their work. However, the report does not include deaths of workers travelling to or from work by using public vehicles as these deaths primarily raise issues of road traffic safety rather than occupational health and safety. But any work related travel by using an official vehicle is included.

The report also does not include deaths of workers as a result of police, or other kinds of violence or in incidents outside of the workplace – as none of these relate to occupational health and safety issues.

This report focuses on industrial and service sector deaths – but it does include details of certain agricultural deaths (where the newspaper reports clearly indicate a workplace safety issue). Very few agricultural sector deaths are reported in the newspapers and those are reported mainly died from lightning stroke.

Deaths at sea is another phenomenon where in most of the cases the newspaper publishes only the list of missing fisher folks – which makes it very difficult to know whether the incidents have anything to do with the management of health and safety issues. In addition, further press reports often fail to indicate the final conditions of the workers.

2.2 Accuracy of the Information

The prime source of this information is from monitoring deaths that are reported in national and some regional newspapers. Relying on this data creates two problems. The first problem is that newspaper reports almost certainly do not reflect, by a high margin, the actual number of workplace deaths that have taken place.

The second problem concerns the accuracy of the newspaper reports themselves. To what extent, can we be sure that the correct facts about the deaths have been reported in the newspapers? During the reporting year (2020) we have investigated 84 incidents of which 36 are related to injuries (31 collected from CRP-Centre for the rehabilitation of the Paralyzed and 5 from other places) and 48 are related to deaths of those investigations we have found that a total of 55 workers died. These investigations also show. Interestingly, that in the great majority of the cases, the key information contained in the papers was accurate. Though, it was usual for there to be some small errors in the spelling of the names of the deceased, the incident address and the circumstances of the death. It is rarely found that those deaths were not work-related or the location of the death could not be identified.

3. Analysis of workplace deaths in 2020

We have analyzed these deaths by looking at the following issues:

- The number of deaths and the number of separate incidents that resulted in the deaths;
- The district where the death took place;
- The sector in which the death took place;
- The sub-sector in which the death took place;
- The month of the year when the death took place;
- Age distribution of the workers who died;
- The gender dimension; and
- The cause of deaths.

The newspaper based survey showed that in 2020 as many as 433 workers died in 373 workplace accidents. Compared with the previous year, 2019, the number decreased about 139. The year 2020 was completely different though. As the covid-19 pandemic became more and more widespread and the number of fatalities grew. Due to which all the industrial activities were shut down for more than two months and that was the cause of the decrease in workplace accidents. The situation was improving gradually but did not return to normal. Even though the year has ended, coronavirus is still spreading and hiking up the death toll. That has forced people to live a new-normal life.

3.1 Workplace deaths by year

Figure 1 shows the year-wise death of workers, which depicted that the average number of deaths was about 550. These figures are likely to be a significant under-estimation of the actual numbers, since many workplace deaths are not reported in newspapers.

³ In 2012, the number of deaths was 378 (excluding the 112 deaths caused by the Tazreen factory fire), and in 2013, 376 workers died (excluding the 1134 confirmed Rana Plaza deaths).

3.2 Workplace deaths in different Districts

In 2020, there were total 373 incidents in workplaces that resulted in 433 deaths, with the highest number of incidents (48) occurring in Dhaka that resulted 57 (13.16%) deaths; 49 (11.32%) died in Chattogram from 41 incidents; 22 (5.08%) workers died in Narayanganj from 14 incidents and 21 (4.85%) died in Mymensingh from 18 incidents. It is noteworthy that except for a very few, almost all the districts (61 districts) have one or more accidents that has resulted in one or more deaths of workers.
